

September 25, 2026

Good morning, IS 201! My name is Leilani from class 831, and I am here with you on behalf of the SEAL Team for this Friday Focus!

Today is September 25th, and it is National Comic Book Day! While comics are often seen as just entertainment, they can actually be a creative way to tell stories and communicate ideas. Comics and graphic novels combine words, illustrations, facial expressions, and other visual details to help tell a story. This can help readers understand what is happening, even when the pictures are telling part of the story that the words don't directly explain.

Something we can take from this is that there isn't only one way to learn or tell a story. Some people learn best by reading, others by seeing something visually, and others by doing it themselves. As we continue through the school year, remember to stay open to different ways of learning and expressing yourself.

The affirmation of the day is, "I am becoming more aware of myself."

Thank you for listening and have a Flip Through the Pages Friday 😊
