Good morning I.S.201! This is Aubrey from class 631, here with you this Talk A lot Tuesday on behalf of the S.E.A.L. Team.

Have you heard of egg rolls? They are a popular Chinese appetizer, a fried shell stuffed with pork, cabbage, and carrots. Today is National Egg Roll day. To celebrate, you can order an egg roll to share with a friend or someone you love. It is important to respect each other's cultures because everyone is different and unique, and that's ok! When someone respects one's cultural beliefs and actions, they get back the same respect. Mahatma Gandhi is famous for being an activist for India's freedom and justice. He says, "No culture can live if it attempts to be exclusive". This means that no culture can thrive while being exclusive so, if you come together as a community, cultures can flourish.

Thanks for listening and have a Tasty Tuesday 😊
